- One month to two weeks before arrival: 60% of the total charge
- From one week before arrival: 90% of the total charge

If your visit to Ischgl is prevented by travel warnings issued by the authorities in your home country or as a result of a lockdown, or if Ischgl is classified as a high-risk area by the authorities in your home country, no cancellation charges will apply. In this event, we can refund your deposit or apply a credit for an equivalent stay at another date or during the following season.

To avoid any unpleasant situations arising from possible cancellations, we recommend you obtain travel cancellation insurance: <http://start.europaeische.at/hsp?AGN=10023102>
In the event of delayed arrival or early departure, the entire room charge as per the booking will be invoiced, without any discount.

If fewer than the booked number of people should arrive, the full room price as agreed at the time of booking will be charged.

When you book an all-inclusive seven-day stay, no refund will be offered in the event of delayed arrival or early departure.

Court of jurisdiction: Landeck/Tyrol. Alterations and printing errors reserved.

GTC: In addition to the guidelines described in this document, the Austrian Hotel Regulations (ÖHVB) apply.
